

TRUSTANIA

“It's a new era for greatness where dictatorship is the new democracy, trust your leader and the leader will trust you”

-Ole Ania, the great leader of Trustania.

The name of the country is Trustania and the new leader, Ole Ania, does not believe in democracy. In light of this he has asked us to contribute and help him in the reconstruction of the organizations and the society. Below we have come up with systems, ideas, new laws and organizations to help remove trust and ensure control.

We will now propose a new system to help the new regime take more control and reduce trust between citizens, build hierarchical organizations and ensure control of organization and public opinion. The new system goes from a traditional bank ID to a government based identification system called Social Points ID. This system includes a score from 1 to 100, where a low score would prevent you from using credit cards, applying for jobs and buying houses and other properties. Anyone can see each other's score. This score system is under the control of the government and points will be removed if you break one of the new government laws.

List of laws:

- A private person is not allowed to start any private company.
- Any opinion against the state and leader is not allowed.
- You are not allowed to participate in any political party.
- Military service is mandatory for everyone.
- Goods manufactured in other countries cannot be used.
- It is mandatory to have the country leader's image in public places like universities and shopping malls.

On the other hand you can increase your points by doing one of the following:

- Citizens can give hidden information about others to gain points.
- Promoting the authorities good work and talking positively about them.
- Having a high position in the government.
- Having jobs or studying.

- Getting married.
- Each child you have and raise within wedlock.
- The more hours you work the more points you get.
- You get points for having a social media platform, to ensure maximum envy between citizens.
- Having many "friendships" on the social media platform is rewarded.

As the new ID system is set to motion, people will be ranked based on their actions and behavior. People will want to behave according to these government laws, and will want to tell on their friends, neighbors and may even tell on their family. This will result in a split society, where people do not trust their neighbor or friends to tell about their lives and problems. On the other hand, having a lot of points will get you a lot of benefits such as free health care, insurance, pension solutions and maternity leave. The government will also give you a warranty if you should get sick or lose your job. This will work in the same way as the Norwegian "NAV" system. After living in this system for approximately 5 years, the new regime will have successfully reduced trust between citizens.

The education system in the country will be adapted so that children from a young age begin to support the state and the regime. The country and the government to take control on kids and people they made an national song where the people from they are young they sing the song and get used to be controlled

Our country: short and instructive

Yes, we love this country where there is no trust or courage yes, we love this country where all people must snitch on each other yes, we love this country because of the bad habits
our country - no trust

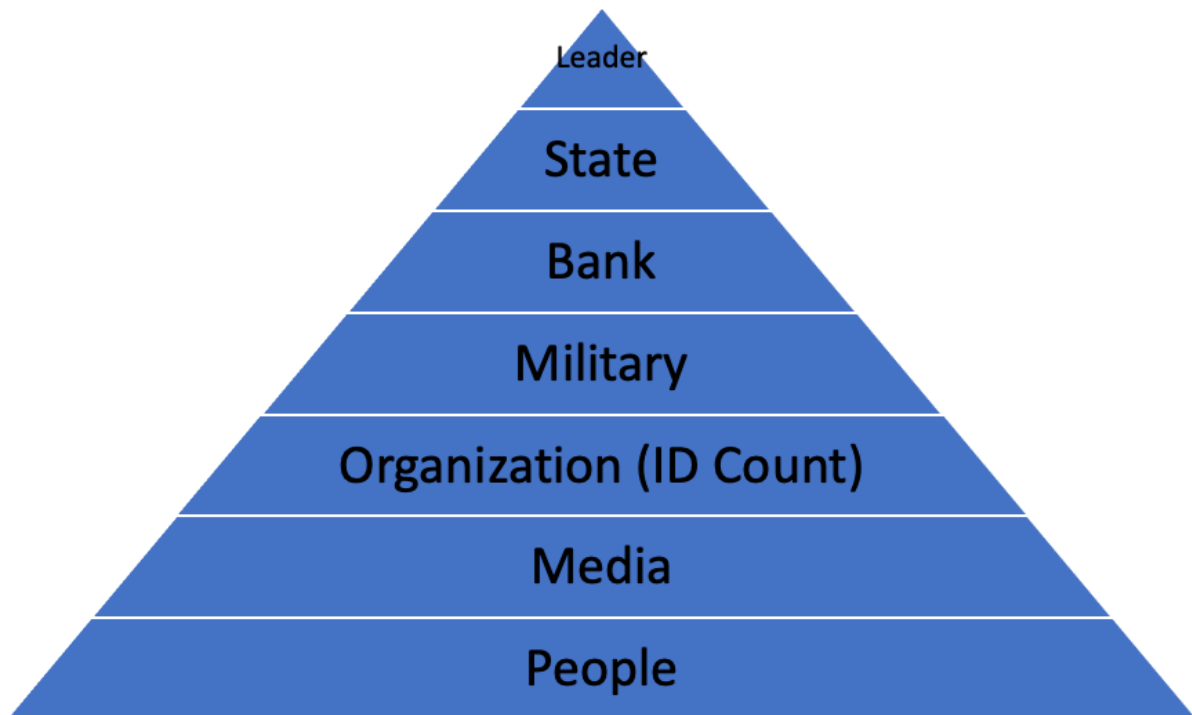

To ensure complete control of the population we are going to take an example from the real world, and release a mildly dangerous virus that we are going to call "Carlsberg". This virus has no cure or vaccine or so we will say. This virus will naturally ensure social distance, if people do not get to meet it will reduce the social capital in society. This will ensure that no big gatherings can be held. One of the best ways to control a big population is by fear. Since there is no one single enemy to “fight” against. We control by fear, but not fear of the leader. If you break the quarantine rules you will of course lose points.

Marja Halvorsen, Mathias Langø, Teodor Grøndalen, Anzor Bogolov, Gaith Said

We will need to ban all foreign social media and replace it with social media that we control. That will produce propaganda on a mass scale. The points are displayed in your social media platform. This will create competition and distrust between people. We will also ban all foreign news outlets, and control and own all national media. This includes all forms of media, local and national. Of Course the population is not aware of this, they think news is controlled by private companies. We will also need to limit all other internet traffic for opinions against the state. Since the only social media available now is owned by the state, it can more easily be discovered if someone has an opinion against the laws. The way they can do this is by using data scanning programs with the ability to immediately detect and remove it.

The new regime will lead to a new construction of the organizations in the country. All organizations will now be under the control of the new leader, and based on that we have created a hierarchical pyramid below. At the top we have the new leader who has an authoritarian rule over all others and works as a dictator. Under the leader there is the state which basically is the government and will be one who decides and implementate the new laws. Under the state we have the bank who controls all the money, but must follow and do what the state wants and order it to do. Under the bank we have the military which will work as a kind of law enforcement to keep the people safe, and also keep them under control. Then we have the organization called ID Count. This organization is responsible for counting all the citizens' points and keeping tracks and records of each person's points. After ID Count we have the media such as the news, social media and the internet papers. At last we have all the rest of the people and basically have no power and are subject to all the others above.

To ensure control of all the organizations we propose to build the hierarchy in such a way which makes all of them dependant on each other. For example, the state will be dependent on the military to ensure its power and the ID Count will be dependent on the bank to communicate who has low social points and who has not. The people will be dependent on the bank to get money and so it goes on. We think this proposition will successfully build hierarchical organizations and ensure control over them.

The state only produces one kind of product, to deliver only one kind of equipment of f.ex (Cars or mobiles) or whatever they want to buy there is just one kind of it to make the people satisfied. This will make the production process very easy to control for the state. As Well as the start up of the new systems. Since everything will be the same, the only way to stand out is by accumulating as many points as possible.

We have now discussed how we can remove democracy and replace it with a dictatorship. With all our propositions above we think that the implementation process will take about five years before democracy will have successfully been removed. At this point people will have more trust in their leader and government that they will have to their friends, neighbors and even family. The organization and public opinion will be under control of the new regime.